Subject: The microsoft settlement is inadequate

Dear Sir,

It is my opinion that the current settlement in the Microsoft vs. doj antitrust suit is inadequate. It does nothing to redress the past grievances committed by Microsoft nor is it structured to prevent further abuses by them. All it does is enshrine the status quo. Clearly the anti trust laws that are in place are meant to do more then this and a strong U.S. economy requires far more. How can America stay at the forefront of technology if Microsoft is allowed to stifle technical innovation simply by leveraging its overwhelming size? While the DOJ might find this settlement to be adequate, it is clear that they are not well informed enough (or unbiased enough?) to reach a settlement that redress past and prevents future grievances. Please consider this a vote AGAINST the settlement and on that is in favor of a decision that is AGAINST Microsoft's interests.

Thank You,
Phillip Rosen
